MEMORANDUM

to: Ambassador George Bush

from: Tully Plesser

subj: Poll Data Regarding the C.I.A.

date: January 27, 1976

1. The attached Harris Survey for December 1975 suggests a significant shift in public opinion and attitudes toward the C.I.A. over the past year. Specifically, the momentum and direction of that shift appears to be out of "undecided/ not sure" and into "negative."

- 2. In fact, this December Survey report is an excellent and typical example of biased analysis that we have come to expect from some research firms with media constituencies to support. The wording of many of the questions in this survey begs for negative reactions from the public. Furthermore, the similarly negative reactions to the activities of investigating committees involved contradicts the overview and tone of the report, as do the findings regarding tighter controls on the C.I.A. in the future.
- 3. Briefly stated, the attached report takes the views of an uninformed and confused public, currently in the process of emotional "milling" and searching, and attempts to engineer its data into a conclusion that the prevailing national attitude toward the C.I.A. is overwhelmingly negative.

Our point of view centers around the possibility that public thinking on this volatile subject is extremely mercurial, and that events and managed communication can have a dramatic effect on public perception of our nation's intelligence efforts in the immediate future and over the long term.

I will be in touch with you next week and hope that we can explore this subject further at that time.

By Louis Harris

Public confidence in both the FBI and the CIA has been severely shaken as a result of the revelations that have been made about the two organizations.

Over the past year, according to a recent Harris Survey of 1,394 adults nationwide, the public's rating of the job the CIA has been doing has fallen from 39-31 percent negative to 49-32 percent negative. In particular, by more than three to one, the public condemns the CIA activity of spying on prominent Americans here at home. A 74-9 percent majority of the public also feels that "It was wrong for the CIA to work out a deal with Mafia characters to try to assassinate Castro."

The FBI still has a positive rating of 49-39 percent from the American people, but a real question remains in the public's mind as to whether the chief domestic intelligence arm of government can do an effective job when less than half the public expresses confidence in it. A 62-18 percent majority of the public is critical of the FBI for its domestic surveillance of prominent citizens. A thumping 80-7 percent feel "it was wrong for the FBI to send a note to Martin Luther King suggesting that he commit suicide.

The Congressional committees that have been the main sources of the spectacular revelations about the CIA and the FBI have not covered themselves with glory in the eyes of the American people. The Church Committee in the Senate is given a 40-38 percent negative rating. For its part, the House Committee, headed by Rep. Otis Pike (D.-N.Y.) emerges with a slightly worse, 40-36 percent negative assessment from the public.

The barrage of charges and insinuations about the FBI and the CIA have left much doubt and confusion among the American people. When asked if "both the CIA and FBI have learned their lessons and now will run things properly," a 41-30 percent plurality of the public doubts that this is so, with a substantial 29 percent not sure. This is a highly significant finding, for it means that the American people simply do not think that the CLA and FBI can be trusted to oversee their own affairs.

However, the suggestion of "putting tighter controls" on both agencies does not meet with much public approval, either. A 48-31 percent plurality does not approve of such policing because they feel that "sometimes the FBI and CIA know better than any outsider what is involved in an investigation."

The public is also disturbed about the amount of classified CIA and FBI information that has been leaked from the congressional committees. A 52-33 percent majority agrees with the claim that "so much of the secret work of the CIA and FBI has been made public that soon they won't be able to do their jobs." In short, most Azericans feel that one of the results of the investigations has been to make the work of the agencies less effective.

This leaves the American people, as well as the federal government, in a troubling dilemma. On the one hard, it is clear that the public no longer trusts the CIA and the FBI to operate on their own, for fear that they will engage in excesses of the kind that have been revealed. On the other hand, people are aware that the two agencies need to conduct their activities in a reasonable amount of secrecy. Somehow, the contradiction will have to be worked out.

TABLES

The Harris Survey recently asked a cross section of 1,394 adults nationwide: "How would you rate the job being done by (READ LIST) -- excellent, pretty good, only fair or poor?"

Honorable George Bush CIA Director-Designate U. S. Department of State Washington, D. C. 20520

Dear Mr. Bush:

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States has scheduled its annual Washington Conference for the period 5-9 March, 1976. The Conference site will be the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

While I know this date is considerably "down the road" and consequently, a firm commitment may be difficult to extend, you are cordially invited to address our National Security Committee at 11:00 A.M., on Sunday, 7 March, in the Virginia Suite of the Sheraton-Park Hotel.

The National Security Committee is composed of 40-45 highly qualified and motivated individuals responsible to our 1.8 million members for the positions we advance in the areas of national security and foreign affairs. I would expect this core group to be joined by the great majority of our National and State leaders for such remarks as you choose to deliver. I would hope that you and Senator John Tower would jointly appear before this audience, with your topic being "The Future Role of the CIA." I would suggest that you plan on 20 minutes of "set piece" remarks with Senator Tower speaking for a comparable period. This would permit some time for floor questions at the end of the two presentations.

For 1974 and 1975, speakers on this occasion included Admiral T. H. Moorer, Secretary "Bo" Callaway, Congressman Dan Flood, General Brent Scowcroft, and Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt. Besides yourself and Senator Tower, this year's invitees will be Congressman G. V. Montgomery and UN Ambassador Daniel P. Moynihan.

When your plans are set, please have your office contact our Director of National Security and Foreign Affairs, Colonel Phelps Jones, USA (Ret.), at our Washington Office, telephone number -- 543-2239. Col. Jones will be my point of contact for your appearance.

All best wishes to you.

Most cordially,

THOMASTC. "PETE" WALKER

National Commander-in-Chief

Mr. William H. Colby Director Central Intellegence Agency Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Colby:

This year we celebrate our nation's Bicentennial and the 30th Anniversary of the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association. We plan to highlight these events by publishing short statements from military and government leaders in the May/June Annual Convention Issue of SIGNAL Magazine.

Since we believe our readers would benefit from sharing your thoughts, we invite you to submit a short statement suitable for the occasion of this anniversary. One possible theme might be the recognition of new directions, trends, requirements and technology that are emerging in the areas of communications, electronics, command & control, computers, audio visual and related technologies.

A statement of 300 words or less accompanied by your photograph would be a valued addition to this special issue. Our deadline for receiving the copy and your photograph is March 8, 1976.

I believe your comments will make a major contribution to this special issue, and I would appreciate your participation.

Sincerely,

Lt. General, USA (Ret.) Executive Vice President
